ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE IN FEDERAL AGENCIES

Symposium Presented by:

Administrative Conference of the United States and the Institute for Technology Law & Policy at Georgetown Law

Artificial Intelligence and Administrative Law Doctrines: Challenges and Opportunities

Thursday, July 9, 2020, 2:00 p.m. – 3:15 p.m. ET Webinar (registration required at link below)

Artificial Intelligence plays an increasingly important role in the administration of federal programs. Through four virtual panels this summer, ACUS and ITLP will explore current and future agency uses of AI and their interplay with administrative and constitutional law doctrines.

At this second panel, legal experts will discuss the interplay of federal agencies' use of AI and core administrative law and constitutional doctrines.

Opening Remarks

  Matthew Wiener, Vice Chair and Executive Director, Administrative Conference of the United States

Panel Discussion

  Cary Coglianese, Edward B. Shils Professor of Law, University of Pennsylvania Law School
  Deirdre Mulligan, Associate Professor, University of California Berkeley School of Information
  Arti Rai, Elvin R. Latty Professor of Law, Duke University School of Law

  Moderator: David Vladeck, A.B. Chettle Chair in Civil Procedure, Georgetown University Law Center

Closing Remarks

  David Vladeck, A.B. Chettle Chair in Civil Procedure, Georgetown University Law Center

Registration Required:
https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/6196744587906128395

Event will be recorded and transcribed. For more information, visit www.acus.gov/AIsymposium.